BRITISH MEDIUM CAUSES USA RADIO SENSATION

PROGRAMME EXTENDED FROM 15 TO 90 MINUTES

BRITISH MEDIUM Ronald Hearn flew back last week from a highly successful USA tour. The tight six-week schedule included his first visit to Canada, where he also appeared on TV and radio.

In a Toronto hour-long TV programme at peak viewing time, he triumphed in two evidential chair tests. Out of five chairs allocated to distinguished guests, Hearn was given two numbers for pre-recorded psychic readings.

A cleric testified to the outstanding accuracy of his message.

World audience for it

On his second Canadian trip Hearn was recorded by Radio Canada in Montreal.

This programme, with extracts from one of his USA broadcasts and a taped proxy sitting, will be welded into an hour's documentary on his mediumship.

The radio show with worldwide distribution will be eventually transmitted in Britain, he was told.

Hearn's USA tour included lectures and demonstrations in four States. Apart from five TV appearances, two recorded, and one live radio shows, he gave over 200 private sittings.

He was guest on the Philadelphia Connie Roussin TV show "On Target," which has a twice daily transmission.

Phone lines jammed

In Allentown, Pennsylvania, he was interviewed on TV news and taped a programme scheduled to appear on Monday.

Station officials were so delighted with his work they have invited him to return and do his own TV series.

On the 1½-hour live open-line radio broadcast from Allentown Hearn's clairvoyance caused a sensation.

Originally timed for 15 minutes, the overwhelming response resulted in jammed lines and a 90-minute transmission.

Spirit aid comes

Hearn told PN he is convinced of spirit help in this tough assignment. Cooped up in a small studio, wearing ear-phones, his only contact was a voice — often unidentifiable as to which sex — asking, "What can you get with me?"

He was highly delighted by one "very awkward" sceptic's testimony: "You are absolutely on the ball, quite fantastic. Please come back soon."

This programme ran from 10.30 pm to midnight. So many callers were still lined up, the station wanted to extend it.

Hearn, fatigued, decided to "call it a day."

The climax to the medium's record-breaking tour was a 2½-hour lecture and demonstration to over 500 at Allentown's Trexler Junior High School auditorium.

Mary Ellen and Alvin Steiner, who have received many tapes from Hearn, recording their son's Survival proof, organised this meeting. They mounted a Press and radio publicity campaign.

The response was so great people made long-distance telephone calls to ensure seats before embarking on marathon drives to the Allentown demonstration.

"They came from miles away and stayed in motels overnight to see and hear Hearn," said Mary Ellen Steiner. "He was terrific. We had to sneak him into the school and rush him out of the building at the end or he would have been mobbed."

Hearn has had many requests to make America his permanent home. Several groups, who would welcome him on any terms, offered to help him settle there.

So far his only plans are a possible return visit next year.

AT EXACT TIME OF HUSBAND'S INJURY WIFE 'FEELS' PAIN

A WOMAN who "felt" a sharp smack across her mouth later found it happened at the exact time a lead weight hit her husband's lips, said a letter in the "Sun" last week.

Readers were asked to tell their psychic experiences as a sequel to the paper's Ronald Hearn psychic features (PN February 23).

Mrs E. Sanders of Harefield, Middlesex, said that on most summer Sundays her husband rises at daybreak to go fishing. She stays in bed.

Hit by lead weight

During one of his fishing trips, "I was wakened suddenly by the feeling that somebody had smacked me hard across the mouth." It was exactly 7 am.

Her husband returned at lunch-time with "his top lip swollen to twice its normal size."

When another angler was casting out a line the lead weight caught the husband's mouth — at 7 am.

Lesley Stenner of Barton Hill, Bristol, was working in a factory when she and her husband Brian were courting. One day she caught her hand in a machine.

She slammed on the brake and found an index finger injured. Her nerves were "shattered."

When Lesley left the factory Brian was waiting. He asked:

"What's happened? What's wrong?"

He told Lesley that when driving, he felt a sudden shock and kept thinking of her. So strong was his sense of foreboding that he returned to Bristol to wait for her.

The husband of Mrs E. Trowers of Dulwich, SE London, made an appointment to see a shop for sale. The night before she dreamed what he would find.

"I told him the shop's exact lay-out. He would see a case of butterflies and behind a counter a door leading to a room with an iron-barred window."

Though the husband laughed at this "seeming foolishness," his wife was "right in every detail."

Vision comes true

A dream also figured in a letter from P. Peet of Wigan, Lancs. He and his sister were on holiday in Douglas, Isle of Man. Walking through the back streets, he fancied an ice cream.

His sister immediately said there was a small shop round the corner. "How do you know?" asked Peet. "You've never been here before."

The sister said she had "seen" it in a dream. The couple went round the corner. There, sure enough, was the shop.

TAPED PROXY SEANCE ENDS MOTHER'S GRIEF

RONALD HEARN, with his factual evidence of Survival, has made the sun shine for me once again. I will always be grateful. When her son, Glenn, passed in a car accident in January 1979, says Dorothy Horstman, of Marvel, Texas, US, "life ceased for me. I was trying to get the courage to join him, wherever he was."

"That was the problem. I didn't know where he was, in the ground, or in another dimension." Before Glenn's accident, "I was so busy being happy that while I kind of believed in Survival, it wasn't something I'd ever had a need to have proved to me."

"After his accident, it was the only subject in my life." When Hearn's name and London address were given to her, "with all my heart I prayed he would send me some evidence of Glenn's survival.

"Indeed he did!" In his first taped proxy sitting last February the medium gave a minute description of Glenn, "his peculiarities as well as his life-style," and his activities on earth. "Without a shadow of a doubt this was my son of whom he was speaking," Mrs Horstman testifies.

A month later came a second tape. "As evidential as the first, this was on a lighter plane, but it could not have been anyone coming through but Glenn."

The comforted mother adds, "To me, the most wonderful accomplishment one human being can do for another is to relieve their suffering."

"I thank God every night for truly gifted mediums such as Ronald Hearn."

RONALD HEARN — as viewers saw him last week.

Children featured in two letters. Elizabeth Berger of Brixton, SW London, "knew" her small son would have a plaster on his forehead when she met him after school. He did, because he had fallen.

Another mother, Hilda Marriott of Manchester, said "when her children were very small, "I always knew if anything was wrong when they were out of sight."

Barbara, a friend of Mrs W. A. Preece of Greenford, Middlesex, was expecting a baby, then two days overdue.

On the second day this reader told her husband: "Barbara has had her baby, a daughter. It came at six o'clock." Next day she heard "I had been perfectly right."

Birmingham reader Mrs G. Lancelot was talking to a complete stranger at her holiday hotel. "I happened to tell her that a week previously I had lost my engagement ring."

The stranger asked her to describe it in detail, which she did. The woman then told her:

"When you get home, look in the lingerie drawer of your dressing table. I think you'll find your ring there."

She looked, and found her ring.

In another outcome of the Press feature Ronald Hearn was seen on the BBC-1 TV magazine feature "Pebble Mill at One" last week. The interviewer felt ghost-hunting was now "an international craze."

Telling of his belief in Survival, Hearn said:

"The spirit leaves the body and travels to a new existence. I think for most of us it's going to be a very exciting adventure."
